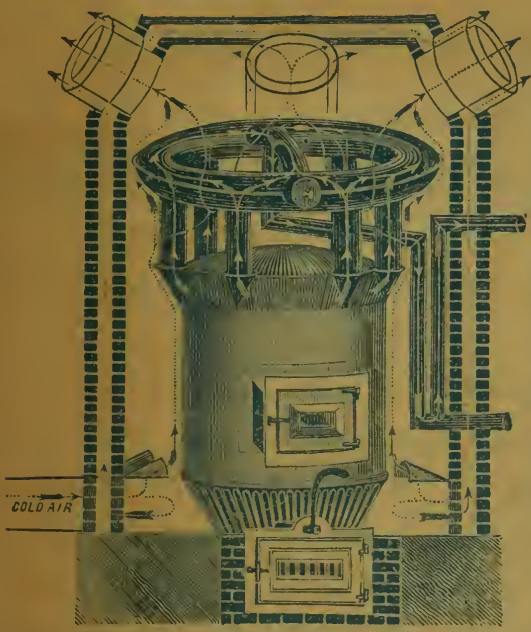
WARMING AND VENTILATING
PUBLIC & PRIVATE BUILDINGS.

CHILSONS' IMPROVED PATENT
AIR-WARMING AND VENTILATING FURNACE.



GREATLY IMPROVED AND PATENTED, 1850.

The Inventor of this FURNACE would invite the special attention of Committees and other Gentlemen desirous of thoroughly warming and ventilating public or private buildings, to the great improvements now COMPLETED for Warming and Ventilating Dwellings, Churches, Hospitals School Houses, Stores, etc. with fresh, healthful air. These Furnaces are perfectly free from any scorching, smell of red hot iron, that disagreeable odor arising from the common Iron Furnace, which burns the oxygen of the air, and destroys its vitality and freshness, thereby preventing pure ventilation, and adding unnecessary expense in the waste of fuel, cracking and burning out of the iron pots. The two past years have been strictly devoted to perfecting this Furnace, and improving the mode of ventilation in buildings with unsurpassed success, it having been universally adopted in the Public Schools of the City of Boston, by the unanimous vote of the School Committee, and by the Committees on Public Buildings, as also in the neighboring cities and towns, as will be seen by their several printed Reports, and by gentlemen and committees from all sections of the country.

The unanimous decision of this being the best warming and ventilating apparatus in use, determined the Inventor of it to spare no expense or pains for additional improvements in perfecting the four sizes of these Furnaces to the highest possible degree of perfection. They are now finished, and for warming, ventilation, durability, and economy in fuel, they have no equal in the world.

C. D. & Co., will give their attention to putting up these Furnaces, and Ventilating Buildings, in any part of the United States, (personally when desired.)

Books giving complete directions concerning the Furnace may be had gratis.

THE BOSTON SCHOOL VENTILATING STOVE,

DR. CLARK'S PATENT.

This Stove, constructed for the express purpose of thoroughly ventilating, as well as warming School Rooms, Dwellings, Halls, Churches, Stores, Railroad Cars, &c., with fresh healthful air, perfectly free from any red hot iron heat, has proved to be perfect for the purposes intended. There are five sizes, adapted to buildings of all classes, and possess the following advantages:

1. They are perfectly portable Furnaces, with distinct and capacious air chambers.
2. They insure an abundant supply of warmed and fresh air.
3. The regulating top, which is movable or fixed, as may be desired, gives a perfect control of the amount and temperature of the admitted air.
4. The outer cylinder is never hot enough to burn the persons or clothing of those who come in contact with it.
5. The Railroad Stove is very compact, and will occupy the space of only one seat in a car.
6. They have been constructed with the utmost regard to efficiency, durability and neatness of appearance.

Also, for sale, wholesale or retail, a full assortment of new and beautiful patterns of REGISTERS and HOT-AIR GRATES, VENTILATORS and SMOKE BLOWERS, PARLOR and CHAMBER FRAME GRATES, of new and elegant patterns, of high and low cost, at the STOVE, RANGE, GRATE, and AIR-WARMING AND VENTILATING FURNACE ESTABLISHMENT,

GOLD  PENS

BARD BROTHERS'

—PREMIUM—

DIAMOND-POINTED GOLD PENS

—AND—

GOLD AND SILVER PENCIL CASES.

THE HIGHEST PREMIUMS

Ever awarded upon Gold Pens, were given to Bard Brothers, at the last exhibitions of the Charitable Mechanic Association, in Boston, and the Franklin Institute, in Philadelphia, in 1847, and also, Salem Mechanics' Association, in 1849. The rapid sale of these Pens indicates their superiority over those of other manufacturers, (500,000 sold annually). From among the many flattering testimonials we have received, the following are selected :

"Its superior smoothness is only equalled by its beauty, and only surpassed by its durability. An editor says : 'It is as free and flexible as a goose-quill, and fifty times as durable as a pen of steel.'"—Mirror.

"Gold Pens.—On the South side of the Rotunda, is a case of Gold Pens and Gold and Silver Cases, which attract much notice from the tasty manner in which they are displayed. They are from the manufactory of Bard Brothers, of this city ; and as we have used them ourself, and seen a rigorous trial made of them by others, we do not hesitate to recommend them as among the best we have ever seen. They are elastic, and give a very full and bold stroke, as well as a fine and delicate one. Their great sale is a good evidence of their popularity ; and, of course, in some degree, of their value, as the use of a poor article of this description would not be likely greatly to increase."

PREFACE.

EVERY book is expected to have a preface suited to its objects. If the work be an original one, readers look for an expression of the author's motives for publishing it; if a compilation, or an improved edition of some standard work, they desire to know the author's modifications, or additions, and his reasons for them. This is right. It is proper. Indeed, the fashion may be denominated an economical one. The author gives a brief statement of his intentions,—and the reader is early left free to judge for himself whether the new volume is entitled to an abrupt dismissal, or to further study and consideration.

With us, this subject is a plain one. Our duty is obvious. The objects of our work were fully stated in the first volume, and but little remains to be added, each year, except to make known our particular wants, to explain deviations or omissions, and to express our thanks for favors received.

Our particular acknowledgments are due to the Honorable Legislature of Massachusetts of the present year, for the vote by which copies of the RECORD are to be placed in the hands of its members. This liberal vote may be made the source of much good and convenience to the public, particularly if the members will favor our work by regarding themselves as correspondents, and will report to the Editor such information as they may possess, useful to the citizen and to the officer, and necessary to enable him to make all proper corrections.

We have sent, annually, circulars to every Town, County, and to most of the Institutions of the Commonwealth, and yet our returns are far from being complete. Many have manifested a lively interest in responding promptly and fully to our inquiries, and we tender them our best thanks. And to others, who have made communications unasked, whether important or unimportant, we beg to make our grateful acknowledgments.

We owe special thanks to J. B. Felt, Benjamin H. Currier, George W. Foxcraft, James French, Rev. J. S. Clark, Edward Jarvis, M. D., T. M. Hayes, and N. B. Shurtleff, M. D.

All communications and corrections intended for the fifth volume of the State Record, should be addressed to the Editor, Boston, on or before the 1st of October, 1850.

It will be central and annular on the meridian, in longitude 85° 54′ east from Greenwich, and latitude 10° 58′ south.

STATE OF MASSACHUSETTS.

MASSACHUSETTS COUNTIES.*

Before Massachusetts was nominally divided into Counties, in 1643, it appears to have had such divisions designated by the term Regiments. Under the date of October 7, 1641, in General Court Records, is the subsequent passage: "The proposition of choosing deputies for a yeare and transacting and preparing all things for the General Court amongst the three Regiments, is to be carryed by the deputies to the freemen of every towne, and their answer returned to the next session of this Court." Winthrop's Journal of May 6, 1639, says "two Regiments in the Bay mustered at Boston." Evidently the phrase "in the Bay," then excluded soldiers who belonged to what was afterwards called Essex county. Hence, Regiments, at these dates, denoted an equal number of general and territorial divisions in the colony.†

SUFFOLK COUNTY.

Incorporated May 10, 1643. Divided March 26, 1793.

BOSTON, §Sept. 7, 1630. Shawmut. Trimountain. — Occupied by William Blackstone about 1624, who probably came over with Robert Gorges the year before. Incorporated as a city, Feb. 23, 1822.

CHELSEA, Jan. 10, 1739. Winisimet. Rumney Marsh, Pullin Point. —It probably began to be settled by this Capt. Gorges in 1623, whose province included Chelsea. It was part of Boston.

ESSEX COUNTY.

Incorporated May 10, 1643.

SALEM, June 29, 1629. Naumkeag.—Reputed as incorporated from the arrival of Mr. Higginson. Settled 1626. Made shire town Nov. 9, 1644. Incorporated as a city, March 23, 1836. As the incorporation of Salem has been long set the 24th of June, 1629, the date stated by Cotton Mather, as the one of Mr. Higginson's arrival,—but it being in fact the 29th, it was thought proper to use the last date.

* Continued from p. 37, vol. 3. By J. B. Felt, Esq.

† These marks prefixed to dates after towns, signify * granted, † plat accepted, ‡ settled, § change of original name, || uncertain as to the day of the month. The absence of any sign denotes the real date of incorporation, except otherwise stated under Remarks. When d is subjoined to certain towns, it certifies that they were incorporated as districts at the dates suffixed to them. The Indian names of towns are printed in italics, and their former English names in Roman letters. The new style is used in relation to years only.

IPSWICH, §Aug. 5, 1634. Agawam. — Seems to have been occupied by William Jeffrey as early as 1628. Ordered to be settled Jan. 17, 1633, and was before the 1st of April next. Named for Ipswich in England. Winthrop's MS. says that Ipswich had its name changed the 4th of August.

NEWBURY, *May 6, 1635. Qassacumcou. — Settled 1633. General Court Records has it, Wessacumcou and Winthrop's Journal, Quascacunquen.

LYNN, §‖ Nov. 2, 1637. Saugust.—Granted, at session of the Legislature, Sept. 4, 1639, an enlargement of four miles square at the head of their bounds. Settled 1629. Named for Lynn Regis in England, a town whence Mr. Whiting, one of the ministers, came.

GLOUCESTER, *May 22, 1639. Wingaersheek. Tragabigzanda, Cape Ann. First settled in 1624. Granted to Morrice Tompson and Company at the date prefixed to the town. Named Cape Ann by Prince Charles, out of respect for his mother. Called Gloucester in the session of May 18, 1642.

ROWLEY, Sept. 4, 1639. Rogers's Plantation.—Settled 1638, being parts of Ipswich and Newbury. Named for the place where Mr. Rogers was settled while in England.

SALISBURY, Sept. 4, 1639. Colchester. Church formed here 1638. As John Tufton of Boston was about to try for the recovery of his ancestors' title to New Hampshire, Massachusetts treated with him, 1738, for the "lands in Salisbury, Amesbury, Haverhill, Methuen and Dracut, which the line would cut off." Accordingly, he gave them a quit claim of 23,675 acres for £500 currency.

HAVERHILL, ‖ May 10, 1643. Pentucket. Ward's Plantation. Settled 1640. Said to be named for the native place of Mr. Ward, the first minister. Haverhill has been described as incorporated in 1645; but it was changed from its Indian name and called a town of Norfolk County, subsequently dissolved at a session of General Court, which began May 10, 1643. All this was then equivalent to an incorporation.

WENHAM, ‖ May, 10, 1643. Enon. Part of Salem. Settled about 1638.

ANDOVER, ‖ May 10, 1643. Cochichawick. Settled 1643. Andover, at the date succeeding it, was made a town of Essex County, and must then have been considered as incorporated, though still retaining its Indian name, and generally accounted as incorporated May 6, 1646, when Cutshamache confirmed the previous sale of it to Mr. Woodbridge.

MANCHESTER, ‖ May 14, 1645. Jeffrey's Creek. Part of Salem. Probably settled by William Jeffrey as early as 1628. Called Manchester in July of 1645, which should have been its accounted date of incorporation.

MARBLEHEAD, ‖ May 2, 1649. Probably Mashabequash. Marble Harbor. Part of Salem.

TOPSFIELD, Oct. 18, 1650. Sheweenemeady. New Meadows. Granted to inhabitants of Salem and Ipswich, at session of Nov. 5, 1639. Settled about this time.

AMESBURY, § April 29, 1668. Salisbury New Town. Part of Salisbury. Petitioned to be a distinct town at session of May 19, 1658. Name changed not before May of 1668. Originally spelt Almsbury.

BEVERLY, ‖Oct. 14, 1668. Bass River. Part of Salem. Settled about 1628.

BRADFORD, 1675. Merrimack. Part of Rowley. Settled 1649. Its incorporation is not on the General Court Records.

BOXFORD, Aug. 12, 1685. Rowley Village. Part of Rowley.

METHUEN, Dec. 8, 1725. Part of Haverhill and adjacent lands.

MIDDLETON, June 50, 1728. Will's Hill. Part of Salem, Topsfield, Boxford and Andover.

DANVERS, June 16, 1757. North Danvers was called Salem Village till its incorporation. Settled as early as 1633. Village and middle parishes of Salem made a district January 28, 1752. Named after the patron of Lt. Governor Phips.

NEWBURYPORT, Jan. 28, 1764. Part of Newbury.

LYNNFIELD,d July 3, 1782. Lynn End, North Parish of Lynn. Incorporated as a town Feb. 28, 1814.

HAMILTON, June 21, 1793. Ipswich Hamlet. Part of Ipswich.

SAUGUS, Feb. 17, 1815. Saugust. Second Parish of Lynn. Church gathered here in 1736.

WEST NEWBURY, Feb. 18, 1819. Parsons, to June 14, 1820. Part of Newbury. First settlement of the ministry here, 1698.

ESSEX, Feb. 15, 1819. Chebacco or Chobocco. Second Parish in Ipswich.

GEORGETOWN, April 21, 1838. New Rowley. Part of Rowley. Settled about 1669.

ROCKPORT, Feb. 27, 1840. Sandy Bay. Part of Gloucester.

MIDDLESEX COUNTY.*

Incorporated May 10, 1843.

CHARLESTOWN, § June 24, 1629. Mishawum. Probably began to be settled in 1623. A company from Naumkeag settled there Sept. 1628. Originally spelt Cherto and Charleton.

WATERTOWN, §Sept. 7, 1630. Pigsguset.

MEDFORD, Sept. 28, 1630. Mystick. Originally spelt Meadford. Its incorporation is dated from its being mentioned with other plantations for a tax. Declared a peculiar town October 15, 1684.

CAMBRIDGE, Sept. 8, 1833. Newtown. Called Newton December 28, 1630. Settled 1631. Its incorporation seems to have been dated from the settlement of Messrs. Hooker and Stone there. Named Cambridge May 2, 1638. Late registers put the incorporation of Cambridge at 1630.

CONCORD, *Sept. 2, 1635. Musketequid. Named for the peaceable manner in which it was purchased of the Indians. Settled 1635.

* A petition was presented June 19. 1735, to General Court, that Chelmsford, Billerica, Groton, Dunstable, Littleton, Westford, Dracut, Nottingham, Townshend, Lunenburg, Harvard, Tewksbury and Litchfield, in Middlesex and Worcester Counties, might be made a new County. The Court ordered notice of this petition to be given to each of the towns concerned, but nothing more was effectually done.

SUDBURY, *Sept. 4, 1639. Settled 1638.

WOBURN, §‖Sept. 8, 1642. Charlestown Village. Part of Charlestown.

READING, § May 29, 1644. Lynn Village. Part of Lynn. Name not changed before June of 1644.

MALDEN, *‖ May 2, 1649. Mystic Side. A church was gathered here 1648.

CHELMSFORD, § May 29, 1655. Granted at session of May 18, 1653. Name not given before June of 1655.

BILLERICA, *May 29, 1655. Shawshin or Shawshinock. Granted to Cambridge, 1641, for a village. Settled about 1653.

GROTON, *May 29, 1655. Petapawag. Granted to Dean Winthrop and others. First spelt Groaton. Probably named for the birth place of the first Governor Winthrop.

MARLBOROUGH, May 30, 1660. Okommakamesitt. Whipsufferage. Granted to Sudbury people at session of May 14, 1655. Grant of a plantation there to Indians, June 19, 1658. GOVERNORS OF MASSACHUSETTS.

In our first volume we gave a complete list of the Governors of Massachusetts, from 1620 to 1847,* with a brief sketch of Governor Carver. In the second we gave sketches of the governors under the first charter, which were continued in the third volume. We propose to continue, in this and in future volumes, brief sketches of each, in chronological order. We give also fac-similes of their autographs, faithfully taken by N. B. Shurtleff, M. D., from original documents. We are chiefly indebted, for the following notices, to the "American Biographical and Historical Dictionary," by William Allen, A.M.

JONATHAN BELCHER, governor of Massachusetts and New Jersey, was the son of the honorable Andrew Belcher of Cambridge, one of his majesty's council in the province of Massachusetts Bay, and was born about the year 1618. His father took peculiar care in regard to the education of this son, on whom the hopes of the family were fixed. He was graduated at Harvard college in 1699. While a member of this institution, his open and pleasant conversation, joined with his manly and generous conduct, conciliated the esteem of all his acquaintance. Not long after the termination of his collegial course, he visited Europe, that he might enrich his mind by his observations upon the various manners and characters of men, and might return, furnished with that useful knowledge which is gained by intercourse with the world.

During an absence of six years from his native country he was preserved from those follies into which inexperienced youth are frequently drawn, and he even maintained a constant regard to that holy religion of which he had early made a profession. He was every where treated with the greatest respect. The acquaintance which he formed with the princess Sophia and her son, afterwards king George II., laid the foundation of his future honors. After his return from his travels he lived in Boston in the character of a merchant with great reputation. He was chosen a member of the council, and the general assembly sent him as an agent of the province to the British court in the year 1729.

After the death of Governor Burnet, he was appointed by his majesty to the government of Massachusetts and New Hampshire in 1730. In this station he continued eleven years. His style of living was elegant and splendid, and he was distinguished for hospitality. By the depreciation of the currency his salary was much diminished in value, but he disdained any unwarrantable means of enriching himself, though apparently just and sanctioned by his predecessors in office. He had been one of the principal merchants of New England, but he quitted his business on his accession to the chair of the first magistrate. Having a high sense of the dignity of his commission, he was determined to support it even at the expense of his private fortune. Frank and sincere, he was extremely liberal in his censures, both in conversation and letters. This imprudence in a public officer gained him enemies, who were determined on revenge. He also assumed some authority, which had not been exercised before, though he did not exceed his commission. These causes of complaint, together with a controversy respecting a fixed salary, which had been transmitted to him from his predecessors, and his opposition to the land bank company, finally occasioned his removal. His enemies were so inveterate and so regardless of justice and truth, that as they were unable to find real grounds for impeaching his integrity they forged letters for the purpose of his ruin. On being superseded he repaired to court, where he vindicated his character and conduct and exposed the base designs of his enemies. He was restored to the royal favor, and was promised the first vacant government in America. This vacancy occurred in the province of New Jersey, where he arrived in 1747, and where he spent the remaining years of his life. In this province his memory has been held in deserved respect.

When he first arrived in this province, he found it in the utmost confusion by tumults and riotous disorders, which had for some time prevailed. This circumstance, joined to the unhappy controversy between the two branches of the legislature, rendered the first part of his administration peculiarly difficult; but by his firm and prudent measures he surmounted the difficulties of his situation. He steadily pursued the interest of the province, endeavoring to distinguish and promote men of worth without partiality. He enlarged the charter of Princeton college, and was its chief patron and benefactor. Even under the growing infirmities of age he applied himself with his accustomed assiduity and diligence to the high duties of his office. He died at Elizabeth Town, August 31, 1757, aged seventy-six years. His body was brought to Cambridge, Massachusetts, where it was entombed.*

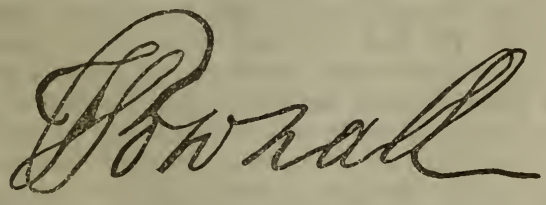
William Shirley, governor of Massachusetts, was a native of England, and was bred to the law. After his arrival at Boston, about the year 1733, he practised in his profession till he received his commission as governor, in 1741, in the place of Mr. Belcher. He planned the successful expedition against Cape Breton, in 1745; but while his enterprising spirit deserves commendation, some of his schemes did not indicate much skill in the arts of navigation and war. He went to England in 1745, leaving Spencer Phips, the lieutenant governor, commander-in-chief, but returned in 1753. In 1754 he held a treaty with the eastern Indians, and explored the Kennebec, erecting two or three forts. In 1755, being commander-in-chief of the British forces in America, he planned an expedition against Niagara, and proceeded himself as far as Oswego. In the last of June, 1756, he was superseded in the command of the army by Abercrombie. Being recalled from Massachusetts, he embarked for England in September, and was succeeded by Mr. Pownall. After having been for a number of years governor of one of the Bahama Islands, he returned to Massachusetts, and died at his seat in Roxbury, March 24, 1771. Though he held several of the most lucrative offices within the gift of the crown in America, yet he left no property to his children. The abolition of the paper currency was owing in a great degree to his firmness and perseverance. His penetration and unremitting industry gained him a high reputation. But it was thought, that as a military officer, he was not sufficiently active in seizing the moment for success. During his administration England learned the importance of this country, and the colonists learned to fight, and thus were trained for the mighty contest which in a few years commenced. His instructions to Shirley, with a full account of the expedition against Louisbourg, are preserved in the first volume of the historical collections.*



Thomas Pownall, governor of Massachusetts, was appointed to this office in 1757, in the place of Mr. Shirley removed. His measures were accommodated with great address to the state of the people, and he had the pleasure of seeing the British arms triumphant in Canada; but as he did not give his confidence to Mr. Hutchinson and his party, and as many slanders were propagated respecting him among the people, he solicited to be recalled. In 1760, when Sir Francis Bernard was removed to Massachusetts, he succeeded him in New Jersey, as lieutenant governor. He was soon appointed governor of South Carolina, though from this station he was, in about a year, recalled at his own request. In 1768, he was chosen a member of parliament, and he strenuously opposed the measures of the administration against the colonies. He declared that the people of America were universally, unitedly, and unalterably resolved never to submit to any internal tax, imposed by any legislature in which they were not represented. He retired from parliament in 1780, and died at Bath, Febuary 25, 1805, in the eighty-fourth year of his age, retaining his faculties in perfect vigor in his last days. His speeches in parliament were all published in Almon's parliamentary register, and he assisted Mr. Almon considerably in his American remembrancer in twenty volumes. He published principles of polity, 1752; administration of the colonies, 1764, of which there were afterwards several editions with improvements, and part ii., 1774; the interest and duty of the state in East India affairs, 1773; memoir on drainage, 1775; topographical description of North America, with Evans' map improved; letter to Adam Smith on his inquiry into the wealth of nations, 1776; a memorial addressed to the sovereigns of Europe, on the state of affairs between the old and new world, 1780; two memorials, not originally intended for publication, 1782; a memorial addressed to the sovereigns of America; on the study of antiquities, 1783; notices and descriptions of antiquities of the provincia Romana of Gaul; intellectual physics; an essay concerning the nature of being; a treatise on old age.*

Francis Bernard, governor of Massachusetts, arrived in the province from New Jersey as successor to Governor Pownall, August 2, 1760, and continued at the head of the government nine years. His administration was during one of the most interesting periods in American history. He had governed New Jersey two years, in a manner very acceptable to that province, and the first part of his administration in Massachusetts was very agreeable to the general court. Soon after his arrival Canada was surrendered to Amherst. Much harmony prevailed for two or three years, but this prosperous and happy commencement did not continue. There had long been two parties in the state, the advocates for the crown, and the defenders of the rights of the people. Governor Bernard was soon classed with those who were desirous of strengthening the royal authority in America; the sons of liberty therefore stood forth, uniformly in opposition to him. His indiscretion in appointing Mr. Hutchinson chief justice instead of giving that office to Colonel Otis, of Barnstable, to whom it had been promised by Shirley, proved very injurious to his cause. In consequence of this appointment, he lost the influence of Colonel Otis, and by yielding himself to Mr. Hutchinson, he drew upon him the hostility of James Otis, the son, a man of great talents, who soon became the leader on the popular side. The laws for the regulation of trade, and the severities of the officers of customs, were the first things which greatly agitated the public mind ; and afterwards the stamp act increased the energy of resistance to the schemes of tyranny. Governor Bernard possessed no talent for conciliating ; he was for accomplishing ministerial purposes by force ; and the spirit of freedom gathered strength from the open manner in which he attempted to crush it. His speech to the general court, after the repeal of the stamp act, was by no means calculated to assuage the angry passions which had lately been excited. He was the principal means of bringing the troops to Boston, that he might overawe the people ; and it was owing to him that they were continued in the town. This measure had been proposed by him and Mr. Hutchinson, long before it was executed. While he professed himself a friend to the province, he was endeavoring to undermine its constitution, and to obtain an essential alteration in the charter by transferring from the general court to the crown the right of electing the council. His conduct, though it drew upon him the indignation of the province, was so pleasing to the ministry, that he was created a baronet March 20, 1769. Sir Francis had too little command of his temper. He could not conceal his resentments, and he could not restrain his censures. One of his last public measures was to prorogue the general court in July, in consequence of their refusing to make provision for the support of the troops. The general court, however, before they were prorogued, embraced the opportunity of drawing up a petition to his majesty for the removal of the governor. It was found necessary to recall him, and he embarked August 1, 1769, leaving Mr. Hutchinson, the lieutenant governor, commander-in-chief. There were few who lamented his departure. He died in England, June, 1779.

If a man of greater address and wisdom had occupied the place of Sir Francis, it is very probable our revolution would not have taken place so soon. But his arbitrary principles, and his zeal for the authority of the crown enkindled the spirit of the people, while his representations to the ministry excited them to those measures which hastened the separation of the colonies from the mother country.

From the letters of Governor Bernard, which were obtained and transmitted to this country by some secret friend, it appears that he had very little regard to the interests of liberty. His select letters on the trade and government of America, written in Boston from 1763 to 1768, were published in London in 1774. His other letters, written home in confidence, were published in 1768 and 1769.*

THOMAS HUTCHINSON, governor of Massachusetts, was a native of Boston, and was graduated at Harvard college in 1727. His abilities were not great, yet by exact temperance and indefatigable industry, united with that discretion which can accommodate itself to circumstances, he rose to the highest offices. Though bred a merchant, he acquired a knowledge of the common law of England, and studied the principles of the British constitution. He succeeded Mr. Sewall as chief justice of Massachusetts, in 1761, and was lieutenant governor from 1758 to 1770. He held at the same time these two offices, and that of counsellor and judge of probate for the county of Suffolk. Paying a profound respect to the religious institutions of his country, and preserving a gravity of deportment, while he condescended to all classes of citizens, he acquired a high degree of public confidence. He was the slave of ambition, and his discernment pointed out to him the way of preferment among a religious and sober people. Still, however, there were some who knew his character, and he had lost some of his popularity by promoting the writs of assistance, which Mr. Otis opposed with such force of argument, and by advocating rather the prerogatives of the crown, than the rights of the people. He was also suspected of having forwarded the stamp act by letters written upon the occasion. After the arrival of the stamps, a mob in Boston assaulted his house August 26, 1765, and having forced him to retire, out of regard to his personal safety, either destroyed or carried off his plate, his family pictures, most of the furniture, the wearing apparel, about nine hundred pounds sterling in money, and the manuscripts and books which he had been thirty years collecting. This outrage was discountenanced the next day by the town of Boston; but the suspicions against the lieutenant governor were never eradicated. When Bernard returned to England in August 1769, Hutchinson became commander-in-chief, and at the close of the year was appointed governor. He now began to unmask, explicitly avowed his independence of the people, and informed the legislature, that his majesty had made ample provision for his support without their aid. They immediately called upon him to relinquish the unconstitutional stipend, and to accept such a salary as should be given him by the general assembly. He replied that this would be a breach of his instructions from the king. The command of his sovereign was his constant apology for every arbitrary step. He had been the means of bringing the regular troops to Boston in 1768, to overawe the people and to enforce the tyrannical laws of parliament, and he was inflexible in his determination to retain them, notwithstanding every argument which was used for their removal. He said in one of his letters to England, "five or six men of war, and three or four regiments disturb nobody, but some of our grave people, who do not love assemblies and concerts, and cannot bear the noise of drums upon a Sunday." He also declared that he slept in more tranquillity after the arrival of the troops. In the year 1772 a number of his letters, written to the members of the British cabinet, were obtained by Dr. Franklin and sent to Massachusetts. They disclosed his whole character at once, and proved him the secret enemy of his country, who stimulated the ministry to enforce their plans, and who even declared to them, that "there must be an abridgment of English liberties in colonial administration." Immediately after this detection of his treachery, the general court passed some severe resolves, voted an impeachment, and requested that his majesty would remove him from office forever. But as soon as he was informed of the determined measures which they were adopting, he dissolved the assembly. He became at length so very obnoxious to the province, that he was superseded by Governor Gage in May, 1774. He sailed for England on the first of June, and before his departure a few partisans sent him an address, thanking him for his services. These men were long distinguished by the appellation of Hutchinson's addressers. His impeachment was without effect; and the lords of the privy council made a report highly in his favor. But he soon experienced the neglect of those, to the promotion of whose plans he had sacrificed his reputation for integrity, and to whom he had been ready to yield the rights of his country. Becoming an object of disgust with all parties, he lived many months in a state of chagrin and despondence, and died at Brampton in the beginning of June, 1780, aged sixty-nine years.

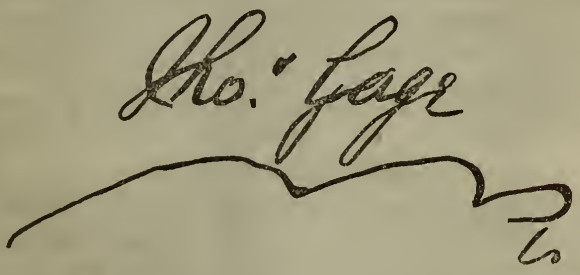
Governor Hutchinson published a brief state of the claim of the colonies, &c., 1764; the history of the colony of Massachusetts Bay from the first settlement thereof in 1628, until the year 1750, in 2 vols. 8vo., the first in 1760, and the second in 1767; and a collection of original papers relative to the history of the colony of Massachusetts Bay, 8vo., 1769. These works are held in high estimation by those who are searching into the history of our country. The late Judge Minot has brought down the history of Massachusetts to the year 1765.*



Thomas Gage, the last governor of Massachusetts appointed by the king, after the conquest of Canada in 1760 was appointed governor of Montreal. At the departure of General Amherst in 1763, he succeeded him as commander-in-chief of his majesty's forces in America. Being considered as the most proper person to execute the parliamentary laws, intended to subdue the rebellious spirit which had manifested itself in Massachusetts, he was appointed governor of that province, and arrived at Boston, May 13, 1774. He was a suitable instrument for executing the purposes of a tyrannical ministry and parliament. Several regiments soon followed him, and he began to repair the fortifications upon Boston neck. The powder in the arsenal in Charlestown was seized; detachments were sent out to take possession of the stores in Salem and Concord; and the battle of Lexington became the signal of war. In May, 1775, the provincial congress of Massachusetts declared General Gage to be an inveterate enemy of the country, disqualified from serving the colony as governor, and unworthy of obedience. From this time the exercise of his functions was confined to Boston. In June he issued a proclamation, offering pardon to all the rebels, excepting Samuel Adams and John Hancock, and ordered the use of the martial law. But the affair of Bunker's Hill a few days afterwards proved to him that he had mistaken the character of the Americans. In October he embarked for England, and was succeeded in the command by Sir William Howe. His conduct towards the inhabitants of Boston in promising them liberty to leave the town on the delivery of their arms, and then detaining many of them, has been reprobated for its treachery. He died in England, in April, 1787.*

HEADS OF THE BOSTON CUSTOM HOUSE FROM 1767 TO 1849.†

According to Holmes's Annals, it appears that in 1767 the British Parliament passed an act for establishing a Custom House and a Board of Commissioners in America. The duties were to take effect after the 20th of November; and in the beginning of that month three of the Commissioners arrived at Boston. The Colonists, believing that this Board was appointed to enforce the new duties, were greatly inflamed, and pronounced the appointment unconstitutional and oppressive. The other two, John Temple and John Robinson, were previously in Boston. The discussions occasioned by the Stamp Act had at once convinced the Colonists of their exemption from Parliamentary taxation, and excited their jealousy of the designs of Great Britain. This Board enforced the control of the revenue in a measure, until the revolution of 1776.

MASSACHUSETTS MILITIA.

[Corrected at the office of the Adjutant-General, to December 1, 1849.]

The militia of Massachusetts is divided into two classes, the active and enrolled; the latter consists of all "able-bodied white male citizens, of the age of eighteen years, and under that of forty-five, excepting persons enlisted into volunteer companies, and persons exempted by law, or incapacitated by physical and other causes." (See Sec. 5, Militia Law.) The whole number enrolled in 1849, as appears from the Returns of the Assessors of cities and towns (whose duty it is to make such returns,) is 97,200.

The Active Militia consists of Volunteers, who are paid a per diem allowance when on duty, amounting, in the whole, to $6.50 per annum, each man. They consist, by the Brigade Returns of 1849, of 4,581 men. These are organized into three Divisions, and six Brigades, embracing two Divisionary Corps of Cadets, two Troops of Cavalry, four Regiments, and four Companies "annexed" of Artillery, and nine Regiments of Light Infantry.

Requisites for Admission.

It is very important that the candidates should be thoroughly prepared, particularly in grammatical and elementary knowledge. If they have more time than is requisite for this purpose, instructors are desired and advised, for obvious reasons, not to anticipate the books read in College, but to direct the attention of their pupils to other authors.

Time and Conditions of Examination.

The examination for the Freshman Class occupies two days, and takes place in University Hall, on the Monday and Tuesday of the Commencement week, (the 15th and 16th of July,) beginning precisely at 6 o'clock, A. M., on Monday morning. Attendance on both days is required.

No person will be examined for admission to the College at any other time than the commencement of a term, except in extraordinary cases.

Parents and instructors are requested not to offer candidates for examination, unless it be intended, that, if admitted, they shall immediately join their class.

Students may be admitted to advanced standing, at any part of the College course previous to the second term of the Senior year. In order to such admission to advanced standing, the candidate must appear, on examination, to be well versed in the following studies.

1. In the studies required for admission to the Freshman Class.
2. In all the required studies pursued by the class for which he is offered.
3. And in the elective studies of two out of the three departments of Greek, Latin, and Mathematics, pursued by that class for which he is offered. He must also pay to the Steward, at the rate of $45 per annum, according to the standing to which he is admitted. Any student, however, who has a regular dismission from another college, may be admitted to the same standing, if, on examination, he is found qualified, without any pecuniary consideration. This charge for advanced standing is also remitted to indigent students.

Every candidate, before examination, must produce proper testimonials of a good moral character, and, after being accepted on examination, must give a bond, with sureties, of which one at least must belong to this Commonwealth, to the satisfaction of the Steward of the College, in the sum of four hundred dollars, to pay all charges accruing under the laws and customs of the University. A certificate that such bond has been given must be exhibited to the President, before any person can be admitted to the privileges of the institution.

Academical Year.

The Academical Year is divided into two Terms and two Vacations.

The first term begins six weeks after Commencement on Thursday morning, (August 30th, 1849,) and continues twenty weeks.

The First Vacation begins at the end of the First Term, Wednesday evening, (January 16th, 1850,) and continues six weeks, till Thursday morning, the 28th of February.

The Second Term begins at the end of the First Vacation, Thursday morning, (February 28th, 1850,) and continues twenty weeks.

The Second Vacation begins at the end of the second Term, Wednesday evening, (July 17th, 1850,) and continues six weeks.

There is a Recess of four days in each Term, during which the students are allowed to be absent from the College.

The First Recess begins on the Tuesday evening before Thanksgiving, and ends on the Saturday evening following that day.

The Second Recess begins on Tuesday evening, (May 28th, 1850,) and ends on the Saturday evening following.

The Public Exhibitions take place on the third Tuesday (16th) of October, and on the first Tuesday (7th) of May.

The Dudleian Lecture is on the second Wednesday (8th) of May.

The Commencement is on the third Wednesday (17th) of July, 1850.

Expenses.

The necessary expenses of an undergraduate for a year, included in the University bills, are as follows:—

Instruction, Library, Lecture-rooms,	$75 00
Rent, and care of Room,	15 00
Board for forty weeks, at $2.50 per week,	100 00
Text-books (average),	12 00
Special Repairs, &c.,	from 1 to 2 00
	$204 00

Other expenses must vary with the economy of each student. Wood and coal ready for use are delivered at the students' rooms, by the lessee of the College wharf, at the market price, usually at $6.50 per cord for wood, and $7 per ton for coal. The rent of rooms in private houses, from $30 to $60 per annum. Board in the town, from $2.50 to $3.50. The students find their own beds and furniture.

DIVINITY SCHOOL.

Faculty of Theology.—Jared Sparks, LL.D., President. Rev. Convers Francis, D.D., Rev. George R. Noyes, D.D.

Candidates for admission are expected to present themselves on the first day of the Term. If unknown to the Faculty, they are to produce testimonials to their moral and serious character.

Candidates for admission to an advanced standing must have been engaged in the study of Theology as long as the class into which they propose to be received, and must pass an examination in the studies which that class has pursued.

Students are required to reside in or near Divinity Hall. They give bonds in the sum of $100 for the payment of term-bills, which, including charges for instruction, rent and care of room and furniture, and use of class-books, amount to $66 annually. Board may be had in the city at various prices, from $2.00 to $3.50 a week. Each student must possess a copy of the Old and New Testament Scriptures, in the original languages, the latter in Griesbach's or Tischendorf's edition. A copy of all other class-books is furnished on loan. Indigent students are aided from foundations and other sources. Three years, including the vacations, which amount to twelve weeks in each year, complete the term of residence.

Students are entitled to receive instruction from the Instructor in the German language, and to attend, gratis, all public lectures of the University given to undergraduates.

It is considered of great importance, that those who enter the School should be present at the beginning of the First Term.

LAW SCHOOL.

Faculty.—Jared Sparks, LL.D., President. Joel Parker, LL.D., Hon. Theophilus Parsons, A.M., Hon. Frederic H. Allen, A.M.

The design of this Institution is to afford a complete course of legal education for gentlemen intended for the Bar in any of the United States, except in matters of mere local law and practice; and also a systematic course of studies in Commercial Jurisprudence, for those who intend to devote themselves exclusively to mercantile pursuits.

No examination, and no particular course of previous study, are necessary for admission; but the student, if not a graduate of some college, must be at least nineteen years of age, and produce testimonials of good moral character.

Students may enter the School in any stage of their professional studies, or mercantile pursuits. But they are advised, with a view to their own advantage and improvement, to enter at the beginning of those studies, rather than at a later period.

The fees are $50 a term, and $25 for half or any lesser fraction of a term; for which sum, without any additional charge, students have the use of the lecture-rooms, the Law and College Libraries, and the text-books; and they are admitted free to all the courses of public lectures delivered to the undergraduates in the University. The other expenses for a term are as follows:—

Upon the payment of a fee of five dollars for each course, the Law Students may also attend the Lectures delivered in the Lawrence Scientific School, on Zoölogy and Geology, by Professor Agassiz; on Chemistry, by Professor Horsford; on Comparative Anatomy and Physiology, by Professor Wyman; and on Botany, by Professor Gray. They may also study any one of the foreign languages taught in the University, on payment of a fee of $10 per annum.

Board, 20 weeks, from $2.00 to $3.50 per week, from	$40	to $70
Room-rent, including care of room, but not making fires,	26	to 52
Furniture, (if the student does not furnish his own,)	10	to 20
Washing,	7	to 15
Fuel, for the first or winter term, from August to January,	12	to 21
" for the second or summer term, from Feb. to July, $6 to $10.
Servant (if one is employed) to make fires, &c.,	5	to 10
	$100	to $188

MEDICAL SCHOOL.

The Medical Lectures form a department of instruction in Harvard University. They begin annually, at the new Medical College in North Grove Street, Boston, on the first Wednesday in November, at 2 o'clock, noon.

The following are the courses of Lectures delivered in this College.

Obstetrics and Medical Jurisprudence,.....Walter Channing, M.D.
Materia Medica and Clinical Medicine,.....Jacob Bigelow, M.D.
Theory and Practice of Physic,.....John Ware, M.D.
Chemistry,.....John W. Webster, M.D.
Anatomy and Physiology,.....Oliver W. Holmes, M.D.

Pathological Anatomy, ...John B. S. Jackson, M.D.
Surgery, ...Henry J. Bigelow, M.D.

The fee for the whole course is $80.*

The fee for graduation is $20; which is deposited with the Dean when application is made to him for examination.

The fee for matriculation is $3. This fee is appropriated to the increase of the Library, and is to be paid to the Dean by all persons who propose to attend any of the courses.

The Hospital and Library are gratuitous. Tickets for the Dissecting Room, $5. No exertions are spared to obtain a supply of subjects according to the existing laws, and to furnish to the class the means of pursuing the important branch of practical anatomy. Board is as low as in any of our cities.

The Clinical Lectures in Medicine and Surgery are given to the class on cases in the Massachusetts General Hospital, three times a week. Surgical operations at the Hospital are frequent. An abundant opportunity is thus furnished to students for most important practical observation and study.

LAWRENCE SCIENTIFIC SCHOOL.

Faculty.—Jared Sparks, LL.D., President. William Cranch Bond, A.M., John W. Webster, M.D., Louis Agassiz, LL.D., Benjamin Peirce, LL.D., Asa Gray, M.D., Joseph Lovering, A.M., Jeffries Wyman, M.D., Eben. N. Horsford, A.M., George Phillips Bond, A.B.

The following courses of instruction will be given in the Scientific School at Cambridge, during the current Academic Year, commencing on Thursday, August 30th, 1849.

The instruction will be given in lectures, recitations, or both, according to the nature of the study, and at the discretion of the instructor.

Candidates for admission must have attained the age of eighteen years, must have received a good common English education, and must be qualified to pursue to advantage the courses of study to which they propose to give their attention. They must furnish satisfactory evidence of good moral character, and give bonds, in the sum of $200, with a surety resident in Massachusetts, for the payment of all dues to the School.

Members of the School, on leaving it, will receive a certificate of the number of Terms for which they have been attached to it, and of the studies pursued by them.

The number and choice of studies to be pursued are optional on the part of the students, who will, however, be counselled on these points by the Professors. Attendance on the lectures and recitations is voluntary. For this as well as other reasons, the government of the University wish wholly to discourage the resort of young men to the Scientific School, who do not, in the opinion of their parents and guardians, possess that stability of character and firmness of purpose, which will insure a faithful performance of duty, without academic discipline.

* Fees for the tickets are required to be paid when the tickets are taken out, and no person can be admitted to a lecture who does not exhibit his ticket for the same when called for.

I. Chemistry.

Professor Horsford will continue to receive special students to the course of experimental instruction in Chemistry, who will give their attendance in the Laboratory from 9 o'clock, A. M., till 5 o'clock, P. M.

The course will be modified to meet the wants of those designing to pursue practical analysis, manufacturing, metallurgy, medicine, engineering, agriculture, or instruction, and proportioned in duration to the objects and previous acquisitions of the student.

A course of Lectures upon the Practical Application of Chemistry to the Arts, in the First Term, and upon Theoretical and Experimental Chemistry, in the Second Term, will be given by Professor HORSFORD.

Excursions will be made in term-time to manufacturing establishments in the neighborhood, where the practical application of Chemistry to the arts may be witnessed.

II. Zoölogy and Geology.

The instruction in this department consists, alternately, of a course of Lectures by Professor Agassiz on Zoölogy, embracing the fundamental principles of the classification of animals, as founded upon structure and embryonic development, and illustrating their natural affinities, habits, geographical distribution, and the relations which exist between the living and extinct races; and of a course on Geology, both theoretical and practical. The course on Geology will be delivered during the next Academical Year.

Besides the instructions of the lecture-room, Professor Agassiz will afford to the students access to his laboratory during certain hours, in order to show them how to observe isolated facts, how to determine living and fossil animals, how to identify rocks of different formations, and how to conduct a regular geological survey.

For those who intend to make a further study in these sciences, excursions in the neighborhood will be made in term-time, and longer excursions in vacation, to those parts of the country, near or remote, which offer the most instructive field of observation.

III. Engineering.

This department has not yet been organized, but it is expected to be brought into operation during the present Term.

Should a sufficient number of students require it, the following special courses will be given: —

Botany.

Professor GRAY will give, during the Second Term, at the Botanic Garden, a course of twenty-four Lectures, or lessons, on Structural Botany and Vegetable Anatomy, with microscopical demonstrations.

Experimental Philosophy.

A course of Lectures by Professor Lovering, with instruction in the use of Philosophical Instruments.

Comparative Anatomy and Physiology.

Dr. WYMAN will give, during the Second Term, a course of twenty-four Lectures on Comparative Anatomy and Physiology. In this course, the various organs will be described, as they exist in the animal series, in connection with the uses to which they are subservient. Opportunities will be afforded for studying the various tissues with the aid of the microscope ; and the various physical phenomena manifested by living beings will be illustrated by experiment.

Astronomy.

Practical Astronomy and the use of Astronomical Instruments will be taught at the Observatory, by William C. Bond, Esq., Director, and Mr. George P. Bond, Assistant Observer.

The Observatory is supplied with the apparatus for simultaneous magnetic observations, which will be entrusted to a class of students desirous of taking charge of it.

Mathematics.

Instruction will be given in the Higher Mathematics, and especially in Analytical and Celestial Mechanics, by Professor Peirce.

Private instruction in the various branches of Mathematics will be given to those desirous of receiving it, by competent instructors residing at the University.

The following courses of lectures delivered to undergraduates will be open to members of the Scientific School, viz : —

A compendious course on Mineralogy and Geology, by Professor Webster.

A course on Systematic Botany according to the Natural System, by Professor Gray.

On Physics, by Professor Lovering. The subject for the first term of 1849–50 is Mechanical Philosophy.

A course on the General Outlines of the Classification of the Animal Kingdom, and on Comparative Anatomy and Physiology, by Professor Jeffries Wyman.

The formation of a Museum of Natural History, on an extensive scale, has been commenced, under the superintendence of the professors in the several departments.

The Mineralogical Cabinet of the University, the Rumford and Philosophical Apparatus, the Anatomical Museum, the Botanic Garden, the Observatory, and the Public Library, will be accessible to the students of the Scientific School.

Fees.

In the department of Chemistry the fees for SPECIAL STUDENTS will be, for instruction six days in the week, per term of twenty weeks $50.00

For laboratory apparatus and supplies 25.00

For three days per week, two thirds, and for one day, one third of the above sums, respectively.

The SPECIAL STUDENTS in Chemistry will also supply themselves at their own expense with such articles of apparatus as are consumed in using, such as flasks, corks, tubing, lamps, crucibles, &c., together with alcohol, and platinum, gold, and silver solutions.

For SPECIAL STUDENTS in any of the departments (except Chemistry,) who pass several hours daily under the immediate direction of the Professors in their laboratories, or upon excursions, per term of twenty weeks $50.00

This is the maximum charge, which the instructors in certain cases may diminish at their discretion

The Lectures delivered in the Scientific School may be attended by members of the School, and by members of any of the Professional Schools, and by persons not otherwise connected with the University, on payment of a fee of ten dollars per course for the Lectures on Chemistry, and five dollars per course for any other Lectures; and they may attend without charge any of the Lectures delivered to undergraduates by the Professors in the Academical Department.

For further information concerning the school, application may be made to Eben. N. Horsford, Dean of the Faculty.

Terms of Admission.

Candidates for admission to the Freshman Class are examined in Geography, Vulgar Arithmetic, and Algebra through Simple Equations; in English, Latin, and Greek Grammar; including Prosody in Virgil and Cicero's Select Orations; in Cæsar's Commentaries, or Sallust; and in the Greek Testament, and in Jacob's, Colton's, or Felton's Greek Reader.

For admission to an advanced standing, an examination must also be sustained in the studies to which the class have attended since admission.

The stated time for admission is on the day preceding Commencement; but persons may be examined in any other part of the College Terms.

Testimonials of good moral character are in all cases required, and a probation of six months before students are matriculated, during which time they are subject to all the laws and regulations of College.

Many who apply for admission are imperfectly prepared in the English Studies, particularly in Arithmetic and Geography. As these studies are not pursued in College, it is necessary that the preparation in them should be full and thorough.

Vacations.

The first, from Commencement, four weeks.
The second, from the second Wednesday in December, six weeks.
The third, from the first Wednesday in May, three weeks.
Commencement is on the third Wednesday in August.

Students are required to be present the whole of the term-time, unless excused by the President. The loss of even a few days, especially at the beginning of a term, is exceedingly undesirable.

Expenses.

Tuition, $10 a term,	$30 00	$30 00
Room-rent, library charges, ordinary repairs, &c.	9 00	11 00
Board, from $1 to $2 per week,	51 00	78 00
Washing,	5 00	10 00
Fuel,	5 00	10 00
	$100 00	$139 00

The amount of incidental expenses will depend very much on the habits of the student, and the liberality of his allowance. It is earnestly recommended to parents and guardians, not to authorize their sons and wards to obtain credits here, and not to pay debts contracted without their authority.

No back tuition is required; but those who enter on an advanced standing, unless they come from another college, pay the following sums, as entrance-money, namely, Sophomores, $10; Juniors, $15; Seniors, $20.

The income of the Charity Funds, amounting to about eight hundred dollars per annum, is distributed among indigent young men of merit, to aid them in the payment of their bills. This pays about two-thirds of the tuition of those who apply. No application for this aid will be conisdered, while the applicant is in arrears for the other charges besides tuition, in more than one term-bill.

The stated times for examination are the Wednesday preceding Commencement, and the first day of the following Term. But Candidates may be examined and admitted at other times in the year, excepting that no admission to the Senior Class is allowed later than the beginning of the second Term.

Previously to examination the candidate must exhibit satisfactory testimonials, that he sustains a good moral character. If he has been a member of any other College, he will be expected to present a certificate of regular dismission.

No one can be admitted to the Freshman Class, until he has completed his fourteenth year; and no one to an advanced standing, without a corresponding increase of age.

Public Performances.

1. Exhibitions, in the second and third terms.
2. Declamation on Tuesday evening preceding Commencement.
3. Commencement on the second Thursday of August.

On the day preceding Commencement several public Orations or Addresses are usually delivered before Societies connected with the College, by gentlemen invited from abroad.

Vacations.

1. Four weeks from Commencement.
2. Six weeks from the Wednesday preceding the annual State Thanksgiving.
3. Three weeks from the third Wednesday of April.

Such students as are obliged by their circumstances to teach school a winter, are allowed to be absent for the purpose.

The following are the principal necessary expenses, exclusive of vacations: —

Tuition, $10 per term,	$30 00	$30 00
Room-rent, $2 per term,	6 00	6 00

Fuel and lights, from $9 to $11,	9 00	11 00
Board, lowest price in companies, 75 cents per week; highest price in families, $2 per week; making per year of thirty-nine weeks,	39 00	78 00

Good board in families may be had at $1 50 per week.

The expenses for room-rent, fuel, and lights, are estimated on the supposition that two students occupy one room.

A small charge additional to the regular tuition is requisite the third term of the Sophomore year, for the instruction in German; and one of the terms of Junior or Senior year, for the Lectures on Anatomy.

In case of admission to an advanced standing, a fee of five dollars per term, which is one half of the regular charge for tuition, will be required; unless such standing shall have been obtained in another College.

Payments.

The amount of the first term-bill must be paid by each student on his admission. Each subsequent term-bill becomes due at the close of the term for which it is assessed. A bond, with satisfactory surety for the payment of all the college bills, must be given by each student to the Treasurer, at the commencement of the term when he enters.

Libraries and Cabinet.

The Libraries of the College and the Literary Societies contain about 15,000 volumes. The College Library is accessible to all the students, and the charge to each is according to the use he may make of the books. The Libraries belonging to the two Literary Societies are accessible to the members of the Societies, according to regulations established by themselves.

The Society has a small Museum.

The Cabinet, part of which is owned by the College, and a part deposited by its officers, occupies several rooms, and is arranged and labelled for study.

In Mineralogy, nearly all the known species are represented by about 4600 specimens.

In Geology, there are 9300 specimens of American, and 4900 specimens of Foreign, rocks and fossils.

In Zoölogy, there are about 1800 specimens of 350 species of vertebrated animals, 6000 species of shells, 5000 species of articulated animals, and 200 species of radiated animals.

STATE NORMAL SCHOOLS.

Established by Law, 1838.

State Normal Schools are seminaries for the preparation of teachers. There are, at present, three in this Commonwealth; one at West Newton, Middlesex County; one at Bridgewater, Plymouth County; and one at Westfield, Hampden County.

State Normal School at West Newton.

This School was first established at Lexington, in 1839, and was removed to West Newton, 1844. It is intended for female teachers only. No one can be admitted who is less than 16 years of age, nor unless she brings a certificate of good moral character, and shall be found able to bear a thorough examination in the branches generally taught in our Common Schools: Reading, Spelling, Arithmetic, Grammar, Writing, and Geography.

No one can be admitted unless it be her declared intention to become a teacher, nor for a shorter time than three terms. There are three terms in the year; one of 12, and the other two of 15 weeks each. The winter term, of 12 weeks, commences two weeks from the Wednesday next preceding Christmas. The summer term, of 15 weeks, commences on the 2d Wednesday in April. The autumn term, on the 1st Wednesday in September. Between the summer and autumn terms, there is a vacation of six weeks; between each of the other terms, a vacation of 2 weeks.

The tuition will be gratuitous to those who are inhabitants of the State, or engage to become teachers in the State, and in the public schools. Board and washing may be had from $2.00 to $2.25 per week.

"About 560 pupils have been admitted since the institution was opened. The Junior Class, admitted Sept. 12, 1849, consisted of 45 pupils, and was the largest ever received at one time. The school is at present very full—there having been more applicants for admission than could be accommodated."

EBEN S. STEARNS, Principal.

State Normal School, Bridgewater.

This School was commenced September 9, 1840. It is designed for teachers of both sexes. Those desirous of entering the School must be present on the first day of the term, to undergo an examination in Reading, Writing, Spelling, Grammar, and Arithmetic. They must present a certificate of good moral character, and must declare an intention of remaining at the School for not less than three successive terms. No one will be received after the commencement of a term, nor, except in special cases, if he or she intends to leave during the term. Male pupils must be at least 17, and females at least 16 years of age. The terms commenced last year (1849,) on the 3d Wednesday of March; 1st Wednesday of August; 1st Wednesday after Thanksgiving. Each term, fourteen weeks. Tuition is free to all who intend to become teachers (of Public Schools) in this State. Board, $2.00 per week. N. TILLINGHAST, Principal.

State Normal School, Westfield.

The terms commence on the 3d Wednesday in August, 2d Wednesday in December and April, and each continues 14 weeks. Board and washing, $1.75 per week. DAVID S. ROWE, Principal.

EDUCATIONAL ASSOCIATIONS.

American Institute of Instruction.

Gideon F. Thayer, Boston, President; Charles Northend, Salem, Recording Secretary; William D. Ticknor, Boston, Treasurer; Charles Brooks and George Allen, Jr., Boston, Corresponding Secretaries.

"Eighteen years ago, a few teachers and other friends of education met together in Boston to see what could be done to strengthen and advance the cause in which they were interested and engaged. After several meetings, they agreed to extend their invitations to all, in other parts of the country, as well as in Massachusetts, who should feel inclined to meet with them. The invitations were widely circulated, and, in August of 1830, several hundred persons, most of them teachers, assembled in Boston from at least eleven different States,* and formed this Institute.

"The teachers from Massachusetts had proposed to give the contemplated association a somewhat modest name,—The Associated Teachers of Massachusetts,—or some similar title; but the votes from other States prevailed, and the more ambitious name by which the Institute is now known was adopted.

"The leading object of the American Institute of Instruction is to promote the cause of popular education, by diffusing useful knowledge in regard to it.

"The Institute has continued to meet annually until the present time, holding a session of three or four days, and hearing from twelve to seventeen lectures, each year. It has enlisted in its service many of the ablest and most distinguished friends of education; and, at its annual meetings, it has had lectures, reports, and discussions upon most of the subjects of interest to the practical teacher, and to the community as acted on by him. Many of these reports and lectures, delivered by men eminent in their respective professions, and by skilful teachers, upon subjects with which they were most familiar, are published, and form a body of science, thought, and practical wisdom, unsurpassed, we think, by any series of works in the language on the subject of education.

"It has had lectures and discussions, and has published prize essays and reports, by men thoroughly versed in the subjects, upon the construction, arrangement, furnishing, warming, ventilating, and apparatus of school-houses and school-rooms ; and has done something, we trust, towards the vast improvements, in all these particulars, which have within a few years been made."*

* The exact number represented was fifteen.

" For many years the annual meetings were held in Boston ; but, it having been thought that a more appropriate sphere of action might be found beyond the metropolis, our Constitution was so amended as to admit of our holding them elsewhere. Accordingly, we have since raised our voice among the spindles of Lowell, the muskets of Springfield, the farms of Worcester, the oil-factories of New Bedford, the hills of Berkshire, and the pilgrim-relics of Plymouth. We have visited all the New England States but Vermont, and we now come here also —to this youngest daughter of the New England family—hoping both to acquire and to communicate renewed spirit and energy for the prosecution of our high purposes."†

American Antiquarian Society, Worcester.

Incorporated, 1812.

The American Antiquarian Society, established for the purpose of collecting and preserving the materials of history, more especially American History, was incorporated by the Legislature of Massachusetts in 1812.

Isaiah Thomas, the distinguished Printer and Publisher, and author of "The History of Printing in America," was the first president, and has been the greatest benefactor of this Institution. A brick edifice for the Library and Cabinet, erected at his expense, was completed in 1820. His private collection of books, which was a considerable one, became the basis of the Library. Extensive additions were made to the building after his death, from resources provided by his will; and the principal portion of the funds of the Society, now amounting to more than $27,000, resulted from his bequests.

The Library of the Society now exceeds 16,000 volumes. Its Cabinet contains many articles of curiosity and interest; and its manuscripts, coins, &c., are of considerable value. Two volumes of Transactions, and a Catalogue of the Library, have been published; and a third volume of Transactions is in preparation for the press.

There are two meetings of the Society in the year; one at Worcester, on the 23d day of October, the day on which Columbus discovered America; the other in Boston, on the last Wednesday of May. The Council of the Society meet, on the last Wednesday of each month, at Antiquarian Hall, in Worcester.

The officers for the year ending Oct. 23, 1848, are Hon. Edward Everett, L.L.D., President; William B. Sprague, D.D., John Davis, L.L.D., Vice-Presidents; Hon. MINISTERS AT LARGE.

The establishment of the Ministry at Large, in Boston, dates back to Nov. 5th, 1826, when Rev. Dr. Joseph Tuckerman entered on the duties of what he called "the mission to the poor" in that city; though previous to that time the moral claims of the poor were not entirely neglected, but some provision of missionary service had been made for them by a society, for their moral and religious instruction. The Ministry at Large, in the spirit of Dr. Tuckerman, is adopted in the following places in the United States, and in England.*

* Taken from the Unitarian Congregational Register.

THE THURSDAY LECTURE.

This Lecture was commenced by John Cotton, second pastor of the First Church in Boston, in the autumn of 1633, and was at first sustained by himself alone.

Afterwards, by courtesy, it came to be preached by each of the ministers of the Boston Association in turn.

In the year 1845, the Association gave it back into the hands of the pastor of the First Church, to whom by right it still belonged.

By his invitation, the following gentlemen are pledged to assist him in sustaining the Lecture. It is preached by them in the order of their college graduation.

BUSINESS OF MASSACHUSETTS.

To review the business of the Commonwealth, in a manner that should prove in any degree profitable to our readers, would require many pages,—more space than our limited work affords for a single topic. We can do but little more than make general references, leaving each one to pursue that course of inquiry best suited to his taste or interests.

Our citizens, of all classes, report their usual diversity of results. Some are satisfied, some are disappointed. Some have added to their worldly means, but have impoverished their souls; while others have failed to improve either their wealth or their conscience. Some have become poor by misfortune, some by imprudence, some by wickedness, and some by indolence. Some have continued poor in spirit, while they have increased their riches; while others have continued rich, who have no wealth but the wealth of good deeds.

The number of failures from Dec. 15th, 1848, to January, 1850, returned to the office of the Secretary of the Commonwealth by the Commissioners of Insolvency, is 520. Of these 105 were in the city of Boston. The number from Oct. 1, 1847, to Dec. 15, 1848, was 1,274—making in all 1,794,—451 of which were in Boston.

The rapid emigration of our citizens to California is a striking feature of the times.* Thousands have left us with high expectations of sudden wealth, and if they are not taught anew the old maxim, that "all is not gold that glitters," many of them will be called upon to realize a more important truth—that most that is good is not gold. A man may succeed in accumulating gold, but he may not be able to keep it for legitimate ends. He may indeed gain the precious metals, and lose, by a mistaken reliance upon them, what is by far more precious—his character. He may become a man of money, and exchange a life of industry for one of indolence, a life of honest simplicity for one of dissipation. Such an exchange, on any terms, becomes the source of transgression and misery, and is more to be dreaded than any plague to which the body is liable.

* The number of vessels that have cleared at Boston for California during the past year is 151, as follows:—ships 58; barks 37; brigs 41; schooners 15.

RAILROADS IN MASSACHUSETTS AND ADJOINING STATES.

The following statistics of the results of the operations for six years ending Dec. 31, 1848, of the several railroads running from Boston, through the interior, and terminating in the adjoining States, are compiled from the reports of the Directors made to the Legislature.

The item of interest, in some of these reports, is included in the expenses; in these tables it has been deducted, as not chargeable to actual running expenses. In regard to the number of fatal accidents, it is believed the reports are somewhat defective, but the compiler has no other documents to refer to for data from which to make up these statistics. If it be true, that out of the nineteen and a half million passengers carried over the roads during the six years, there were only twenty-two killed, it must be conceded that railroad travelling is decidedly more safe than any other.

The Massachusetts Senate passed an order, January 29, 1849, directing the Standing Committee on Railways and Canals to ascertain whether any railroad corporation, chartered within the Commonwealth, had, during the year 1848, borrowed any money;—if so, what amount, and at what rate, and amount of interest. Also, whether said corporations had issued any stock at less than par:—if so, at what rate, and how much. February 7th, 1849, an order was also passed directing the inquiry if any Bonds had been issued and sold during the year, and if so, what amount.

The following statement is made up from the Report which the Committee made to the Legislature, after the circulars, which they addressed to the different companies, had been answered. It would seem that the Western, and Nashua and Lowell, were the only corporations whose necessities did not compel them to go into the market, as borrowers,—while the Norfolk County has exceeded all the others, in the rate of its extra interest payments. Up to January 1st, 1848, the cost of the roads enumerated below, (exclusive of those which were unfinished,) had reached $23,345,893 January 1st, 1849, it amounted to $26,615,800. Increase, $3,269.907. The net earnings of the same roads, in 1847, were $1,874,712. In 1848, $1,819,996. Decrease, $54,716. The returns for 1849, compared with those of 1848, it is thought will exhibit a more encouraging state of affairs,—with receipts increased, and expenses reduced. This is "a consummation devoutly wished for," by many of the stockholders, who had begun to look forward, with fear and trembling, to a crisis similar to that which has overtaken and wellnigh crushed the railroad interest of Great Britain.

VALUE OF DIAMONDS.—The average value of diamonds in their rough state was about £50; while, if free from defects, flaws, &c., they were of greater value. Diamonds were in general weighed by the carat, which is a term well known to jewellers, and equivalent to four grains. Thus a diamond of

1	carat	was worth	£8	4	carats	was worth,	£128	20	carats	was worth	£3,200
2	"	"	16	8	"	"	200	30	"	"	7,200
3	"	"	72	10	"	"	300	50	"	"	20,000

and one of 100 carats would be valued at eighty thousand pounds sterling. — Professor Tarrant.

This Company commenced issuing Policies on the first of June, 1845, and in four years, have issued 1893 Policies, and received $135,821 in premiums; amount at risk $2,468,420. They have paid in four years, nineteen losses from death of deceased members, amounting to $42,700. When this Company was formed, it was the intention of the Directors, to fix the rate of cash premiums and deposits at a sum that, together with the accruing interest upon investments, should furnish a revenue just adequate to pay the interest on the capital, the necessary expenses incurred in carrying on the business, and to cover losses, but it was never their intention to endeavor to accumulate money beyond this amount. The rates of premium were prepared with great care on the probabilities of life, according to the Carlyle tables of mortality, and the experience thus far has verified the correctness of these calculations.

During the past year the Company has progressed with its work in building and preparing its Depot grounds and piers at East Boston. The inclosing wall, of 2,395 feet in length,. has been completed, excepting about 40 feet of space intended as an entrance for scows. The area inside the retaining wall is progressing rapidly with the filling. Four piers, each of 350 feet in length, by 75 feet in width, containing 105,795 square feet, have been completed. These piers have been constructed of oak, and are built in the most substantial manner. The work remaining to be done to complete this Depot for use, is the filling in of 23,000 squares of earth, and building of 77,400 square feet of pier wharf. The filling in of the earth is under contract with the Eastern Rail Road Company; and the building of the remaining piers was also under contract to be finished the present year, but has since been postponed. The bridges over Chelsea Creek and Mystic River are contracted for: the first to be constructed the present year, and the latter early in the next. A contract has also been made for excavating the Docks.

This Depot, designated for convenience of reference as No. 1, is located on the shore of East Boston, in the very centre of the harbor of the city, and adjoining the docks of the British steamships. It is accessible from the open sea on the south to the largest class of ships, and its docks are protected from the easterly and north-easterly storms. It contains 1,465,920 square feet of land, piers and docks, divided as follows, viz.:—

1,058,251	square	feet	of land,
183,195	"	"	oak piers,
244,474	"	"	docks,

and has a frontage on Marginal Street of 1,650 feet in length.

Depot No. 2, at the bridge over Chelsea Creek, contains about 456,721 square feet, with a water front of 1,000 feet.

The real estate owned by the Company comprised in these two depots amounts to 1,922,641 square feet, including 9,351 feet in length of wharf accommodations, in the deepest and best part of the harbor for commercial purposes. The Rail Road will connect both depots with four of the principal railroads entering the city, and through them with the interior roads reaching to the Canadas and great lakes, viz.: —the Eastern Rail Road, Boston & Maine, Fitchburg, and Boston & Lowell, and will be 6 and 6-10ths miles in length. The bridge over Chelsea Creek, and part of the road in Chelsea, will be constructed this season; the Mystic River Bridge and the remaining portion of the road will be completed the next year.

The receipts of the Company have been $638,550 92, (from assessments, $580,291 66,) and the expenditures $614,767 42.

RAILROAD ACCIDENTS IN FOREIGN COUNTRIES.

The North British Review for August contains an elaborate and very interesting article on the railway system of England, and, in the course of it, gives the following comparative table of casualties which occurred on the railways in England, France, Belgium, and Germany, between the 1st of August, 1840, and July, 1845. It is the result of calculations made by Baron Von Reden.

Killed by his own Neglect.

England,	1 passenger out of	869,000
France,	1 " " "	2,157,000
Belgium,	1 " " "	670,000
Germany,	1 " " "	25,000,000

Killed and Wounded from Misconduct.

England,	1 official out of	300,000
France,	1 " " "	5,000,000
Belgium,	1 " " "	280,000
Germany,	1 " " "	9,000,000

Killed from Defective Management.

England,	1 person out of	852,000
France,	1 " " "	3,465,906
Belgium,	1 " " "	1,690,764
Germany,	1 " " "	12,254,858

It will be observed that, as regards safety, the difference is strikingly in favor of Germany; and it is accounted for by the fact that, while the officials stationed along the road are greater in number than in any other country, the police regulations are of such a nature that passengers cannot, by heedlessness or rashness, incur the chance of danger to life and limb.

In England, in 1847, 211 persons were killed, and 174 injured, out of 54,854,019 passengers; and in 1848, 202 were killed, and 219 injured, out of 58,855,133.

We should like to see a careful estimate of the casualties on roads in the United States. They are not, we believe, any greater than those of England; while in that country the guards set up against danger are much more complete than in our own.

COCHITUATE WATER AT SOUTH BOSTON.

MAYOR'S ADDRESS.

The following Address was delivered by JOHN PRESCOTT BIGELOW, Mayor of Boston, on South Boston Heights, at the celebration held in honor of the finishing the Cochituate Reservoir at that place, November 28, 1849.

FELLOW CITIZENS:—The occasion upon which we are convened, is one of no common interest; not only to this section of our beloved city, but also to the whole municipal family, of which South Boston constitutes a most important and interesting part. This peninsula, which was formerly a portion of a neighboring and highly respected town, was set off to Boston by the legislative act, in the year 1804. It continued, for many years, however, to derive but little apparent advantage from its connection with the metropolis,—until the opening of a new avenue in 1828, rendered it more convenient of access. Since that time it has steadily progressed in population and wealth, till it has become as prominent in both of these respects as most of the secondary cities of the Commonwealth. Its people are inferior to none in our country for public spirit, general intelligence, and genuine patriotism. Between them and the people of the main city, there ever exists a spirit of mutual regard and good will, constituting a firm bond of union. This is not inaptly represented by the iron conduits that unite their respective territories in the beneficent occupation of distributing a life-giving element.

South Boston has, for some time, been as copiously supplied with pure water as the main city itself, and from the same source. But it has been judged necessary to construct the great work which we now assemble to dedicate, for the purpose of providing against temporary interruptions of the connecting main, and for a better equalization of hydrostatic pressure. The waters from the distant Lake have accordingly been summoned to appear before us to occupy their destined bed; and here, in a few minutes, they will come, in compliance with the laws of nature and the arrangements of science.

The place selected for this structure has peculiar claims upon our veneration, and affectionate remembrance. Sacred associations gather around this spot, connected as it is with the bravery and trials of our ancestors,—a spot preëminently distinguished as that where Washington accomplished his first successful operation towards liberating his country from foreign control. But here and from these Heights, once devoted to the purpose of shedding human blood, pure and tranquil waters will henceforth descend in genial currents, ministering to the health and comfort of peaceful and happy citizens. Although the beings of more than earthly loveliness, with which Grecian fancy in other days so thickly peopled the lake and the fountain, are not expected to protect these modern waters, they will not want the guardianship of that spirit of patriotism and honor, which will ever delight to hover around this memorable mount.

"The brazen trumpet kindles rage no more,"

It has been declared by a great writer, that "he who plants an oak, looks to future ages, and plants for posterity." In a nobler sense, something analogous to this may be said of those rulers who construct an aqueduct. It is a monument erected upon the highway of time. Successive generations sweep past it. On it may be read the story of a city's greatness, or the record of its decline. The latter, I would trust, will never be inscribed here. The future is bright, to the eye of faith, with promises of the prosperity of Boston—and childhood comes hither to-day, as it were, to confirm our fondest hopes, and announce, in the name of posterity, that all is well.

That part of Arabia was called the "Happy," which abounded with springs and running streams; and happy, indeed, are the advantages of any land or city which possesses a bountiful supply of pure water. In common with the other elements, water was worshipped by the ancient Persians; and unworthy was he of the blessings promised in their sacred volume, who presumed to defile its purity. But it is not among the Magian worshippers alone, that idolatrous homage has been rendered to this element. Pagans in every age, from the Egyptian who presented his consecrated gifts to the "Father of African waters," to the Hindoo who lays his floral sacrifice upon the banks of the Ganges, have in a greater or less degree indicated their profound reverence for water. Such reverence is but the expression of the gratitude which naturally wells up in the human soul for this priceless blessing—which draws the Christian devoutly towards his God, while listening to the cataract which murmurs of eternity—while gazing upon the placid lake which reflects the smile of Heaven.

The abundance of fresh water in other days, was, in some cases, peculiarly the cause and the expression of wealth. It was not without reason that Naaman, the haughty Syrian, boasted of "Pharpar and Abana, rivers of Damascus," for they were indispensable to the wealth and glory of that ancient capital. Palmyra owed its opulence and splendor solely to its springs and streams. The caravans, bearing the products of "Orient and of Ind" to the marts of the West which lingered there for water, rendered it, in the age of Zenobia, a city of matchless prosperity and magnificence—the very ruins of which excite the admiration of the modern world. The glory of the Roman general returning victorious over conquered kingdoms, was seen and acknowledged, less in "the pomp of nations, or the spoils of war," his lofty column or triumphal arch, than in the aqueduct by which he brought the waters of the distant lake or stream to the households of his fellow citizens. Some of these structures imperfectly remain, great even in their decay, and proclaim, with more effective eloquence than the Pantheon or Coliseum, the might and majesty of ancient Rome.

It was an act which has ever elicited the commendation of history, when the great Cyrus diverted the Euphrates from its course, in order that he might enter and overthrow the city of Babylon. But it is a labor far more deserving of admiration, when waters from a distant and adequate source, are brought by an artificial channel, and made subservient to the requirements and comforts of a great civic community. Happy are our eyes which see the accomplishment of such a noble work. We witness within our municipal border a long-desired good—an abundant supply of an article of prime necessity for domestic use and consumption; introduced with equal purity and profusion into the lowly domicils of the poor and the costly mansions of the opulent. We see it gently allaying the dusty annoyance of arid avenues, or removing, at the will of man, with resistless tide, the offensive impurities of the surface into subterranean channels. We witness the overwhelming power with which it grapples with the conflagration, and defies its spread. We behold the beautiful jets, adorned at times with the hues of the rainbow, which delight the eye and refresh the atmosphere; and we never cease to admire the colossal form in which this element springs upward towards the skies, as it were in rivalry with the consecrated spires,—like them pointing to the throne of the Author of its might and the Giver of all good.

The waters which so lately mirrored the forest and the field, flow hither to-day, to assume their appropriate functions, amidst the strife of industry and the din of commerce. In this they afford no unfit type of the human currents that are ever flowing from the calm seclusion of the country, to mingle in the tumultuous scenes of city life. The springs which are the secret sources of these waters, resemble the pure principles which are inculcated in nearly every interior New England home. May those principles never lose their guiding influence upon the human character, when subjected to the trials and temptations of metropolitan existence; and may the pure and pellucid element, which through rolling ages shall continue to replenish this lofty basin, ever fittingly represent the essential worth and moral excellence of the city of the Pilgrims.

His Honor then said that he had power to legalize marriages—that most of the company were aware of a long desire on the part of Lake Cochituate and Telegraph Hill to be united in the bonds of marriage—that no one could complain that the banns had not been long enough declared—and that while the bridegroom was present, and had "never been anywhere else," he said that the bride was bashfully waiting behind the door. If any one had any objection to make to the marriage, let him speak, or be forever silent.

No one objecting, upon a given signal the "bride" was admitted; and amid the cheers of the assembled multitude, the ringing of bells and the booming of cannon, the pure waters of Cochituate began to ascend into the Reservoir.

Property and Debt of the City of Boston.

The entire expenditure upon the Water Works, to the present time, amounts to $4,039,826, exclusive of interest, &c. The cost of carrying the water to East Boston, and distributing the same, including the construction of the reservoir in that section of the city, will probably amount to $500,000, making the aggregate cost of all the works, when entirely completed, about $4,540,000.

The city debt, exclusive of that contracted for water, amounted on the 31st day of December to $1,623,863. It is estimated by the Auditor that the debt, even if no unanticipated expenditure shall be authorized, will amount, at the close of the financial year, (30th of April,) to the sum of $1,726,803. To meet this sum we have bonds and mortgages, $242,000; balance to credit of Committee on reduction of debt, $28,000; City Wharf, valued at $600,000—all amounting to $770,000: besides the Market, (yielding over $30,000 per annum,) many other public buildings, the Public Garden, and nearly ten millions of feet of upland and flats, in the 11th and 12th wards. The specific appropriations for the current financial year, were $1,415,600. The Auditor estimates that the total amount of expenditures for the year will not be less than $1,729,300. The increase is caused mainly by appropriations —for filling up the Flats, (of which I have already spoken,) $100,000; for carrying on construction of new Jail, $123,000; and for additional paving, $70,000. The city tax assessed for the year was $1,174,715.

There are now in the city, sustained at the public charge, 197 schools, with 20,000 pupils in attendance. There has been paid from the City Treasury, during the last year, on account of these schools, for instruction, the sum of $176,930; for repairs, fuel, and other expenses of school houses, $57,695; for new school houses, $99,489,—the aggregate amounting to $334,114. Besides the children educated at the public expense, there are about 2,000 pupils in attendance upon private seminaries. I have reason to believe that the public schools, in general, were never in a more satisfactory state than at the present time; and that the committees having them in charge, during the past year, have faithfully and efficiently performed their duties.*

In the Report of the Committee, made in Feb'y, 1849, we find the following paragraph with respect to the subject of Moral Discipline:

"We can say, and not without a knowledge of the facts, that there has been no single year of our acquaintance with the schools in this city, when resorts to punishments have been so infrequent, or the occasions for them so rare, as during the year which has just closed. Teachers, by pointing their pupils to the right path, and warning them against the wrong,—presenting to them the advantages of following the first, and the difficulties which surround the second, have done, and can do, much to exert an influence which is essential to a mild and wholesome discipline in school, and to secure a surrender of individual wishes or will, to the benefit and good order of the whole school."

The progress of Worcester in population and wealth since 1840 has been remarkable. Few cities in the New England States, if we except Lowell, Lawrence, &c., which have been built up by incorporated capital invested in extensive manufactures, show a greater increase in population or in wealth. We here subjoin a table exhibiting the population in different years from 1763 to 1849. The census in each year, from 1790 to 1840, is the official, as shown by the census of the United States, and that for 1845, by the State. The census of 1847 was taken by Worcester, preparatory to applying for a city charter. For 1849, we have given an estimate, based on the official census of 1845 and 1847. The progress in wealth, or in the increased valuation of property, is equally remarkable, especially during the last nine or ten years, as will be seen by the subjoined table.*

The number of polls is 3,470, (precisely the same as last year,) and the poll tax is $1.12. The rate of taxation on the reduced valuation is 4 cents 5 miles on the dollar, or 45 cents on $100. The valuation of the town is now about equal to what it was five years ago, when Chicopee was included within our limits.

VITAL STATISTICS.

The population of the cities and the large towns in the United States increases in a much more rapid ratio than that of the rural districts. This is demonstrated by a comparison of the population enumerated in 1820 with that enumerated in 1840.

	Population. 1820.	Population. 1840.	Increase in 20 years.	Incr'se, per ct.
Twenty-four cities and manufacturing towns in Massachusetts.	129,753	262,284	132,531	102
Rest of Massachusetts.....	393,534	475,416	81,882	20
Twenty-two cities in the U. States.	508,561	1,297,861	789,300	155
Rest of the United States.....	9,129,570	15,770,805	6,641,235	72

This disproportion of growth of city and country has probably been greater during the last ten years, than during the twenty years next preceding 1840.

This excess of increase of city population is produced in part by immigration from foreign countries, but principally at the cost of the country. The proportion of births to the population does not very materially differ in the town and country. But the mortality is greater in the former than in the latter. There is, therefore, a constant emigration from the rural to the city districts.

Of the 114,366 inhabitants in Boston in the year 1845, only 41,076 were born in that city, and the rest, 72,290, were born elsewhere,—being in the ratio of about 36 per cent. native, and 64 per cent. immigrant population.

The disproportion between the native and immigrant population in Lowell, and other American cities of recent and rapid growth, is greater than in Boston.

Beside this great increase of actual numbers in the cities above that in the country, the greater mortality in any dense population creates a demand upon other sources for renewed supplies of people.

No bills of mortality from the rural districts of Massachusetts or of any of the United States, are sufficiently extensive and complete to allow a comparison of the number of the deaths with the number of the living people. But the reports from the cities are more full, and, in some, apparently complete. The ages of the persons who have died are reported in city and country of Massachusetts and New York, and constitute the only known fact common to both. This is, therefore, the only basis on which a comparison can be made of the mortality of a sparse and a dense population in the United States.

The English Registration Reports show the ratio of mortality to the living population in the cities and in the rural districts.

Mortality of Town and Country in England.

	Population in 1841.	Population to sq. mile.	Number of Annual Deaths.	An. Deaths to 1,000,000 Living.	Living to one Death.
Metropolis and districts of 25 cities or towns.	3,759,186	5,108	98,793	26,296	37.82
Districts of 12 counties	3,440,501	199	65,603	19,068	54.49

It is seen by the above table that in England, as often as 19,068 die in the rural districts, 26,296 die in the compact towns: or, while 100 die in the country, 131.5 die in the city.

This difference of mortality is still further shown on examining some single cities. Leeds has 87,000, Manchester 100,000, and Liverpool 138,222, inhabitants to the square mile of their respective builded areas; and the frequency of death corresponds to the density of population, being, in Leeds, 1 in 36, in Manchester, 1 in 29, and in Liverpool, 1 in 28, of the living. Even in the same city, the difference of density is accompanied with a difference of mortality, which, in Liverpool, ranges from 1 in 41 inhabitants, in the best, to 1 in 23, in the worst wards. One district of that town, containing 49,000 square yards, is inhabited by 7,938 persons, being a ratio of 657,963 to the square mile. In this district, sickness is much more prevalent and fatal than in the other parts of Liverpool.

The Broad Street section of Boston, inhabited principally by the families of the Irish, is nearly as closely crowded; and Mr. Shattuck calculates that the rate of mortality is much higher, and the longevity much lower there than in other parts of the city.

Diseases differ in their frequency and fatality according to difference of density of population.

Old Age	1,943	2,676
Violent Deaths	827	698

Of the 94 specified causes besides old age, 79 produced more deaths in the city than in the country, 4 produced the same in both, and 11 produced more in the country than in the city. The deaths from old age were 37 per cent. more in the country than in the town. The excess of mortality from old age is an indication of the healthfulness of any locality, inasmuch as it shows that so many survive to a late period.

The result of the comparision of the mortality in districts, with different densities of population, made from all the known data, is, that after making all due allowance for the difference of composition of population, there seems to be less vital force produced, disease seems to be more prevalent and fatal, death more frequent, and the expectation of life lower in the densely inhabited towns than in the rural and open districts.*

DEATHS BY CHOLERA IN BOSTON, 1849.*

We are indebted to Mr. Simonds, the City Registrar, for the following return of the deaths by cholera in Boston, during the past season. It is probably as complete as any report of the kind can be made. Some deaths by the disease may have occurred which were not reported; but not more, it is presumed, than may have been erroneously returned as cholera cases. There is no means of knowing the total number of recoveries from the disease in the city, as physicians were not called upon to furnish anything but the causes of death. In the cholera hospital it appears, by the report of the physician, that the whole number of admissions was 262, of whom 160 died, or nearly 67 per cent. The ages of the individuals who died are not stated below, but a very large proportion of them are known to have been of middle age—as has been the case, it is believed, wherever the disease has prevailed.

The first death by cholera occurred June 3d, and there were seven other deaths in that month. During the month of July, the greatest number in a day was six. The disease became epidemic about the 1st of August, as follows:

CHOLERA IN ST. LOUIS, 1849.

We take the following from the December number of the Western Journal—edited and published by M. Tarver and T. F. Risk, Esqs., St. Louis.*

The Cholera made its appearance in St. Louis, early in January, of the present year; and although no serious apprehension was felt by the community at large, until about the first of May, sporadic cases occasionally occurred during the winter and spring.

The following table, furnished by the City Register, shows the number of weekly interments from the first week in January to the first of October.

The greatest number of interments was on the 10th July. Total, 184; by cholera, 149.

The mortality from other diseases during the prevalence of the Cholera was about double that of ordinary seasons. It is proper to notice the important fact that, although there was no considerable district exempt from the disease, yet those neighborhoods which are known to be most unhealthy, at other times, suffered most severely-Around Chouteau's Pond, and in the newly settled district in the neighborhood of Biddle street, where there were many sinks, holding water. the disease was most fatal. These are such localities as an observing stranger would unhesitatingly pronounce unhealthy.

* This work is devoted to Agriculture, Manufactures, Mechanic Arts, Internal Improvement, Commerce and General Literature. It is conducted with ability, and we are persuaded that our citizens would find much in it that would prove useful and interesting. Messrs. Crosby & Nichols are agents for the work in Boston.

CRIMINAL STATISTICS.

CRIMINAL COURT IN BOSTON.*

The Municipal Court of the City of Boston was originally established to relive the docket of the Supreme Court, and to deliver the jail as often as once a month. At first its jurisdiction was limited, but it has been constantly enlarged, and now it extends to all criminal cases. for even indictments for capital crimes must be returned by the Grand Jury into that court, by which they are transmitted into the Supreme Court for trial. Even civil jurisdiction is now bestowed on the Municipal Court, to which all writs in actions on recognizances in criminal cases whose penalties have been forfeited may be returned. The business of this court has increased with the increase of the city's population, and is now so large, that it is almost perpetually in session. The judges of the Court of Common Pleas are ex-officio judges in the Municipal Court, and they preside therein by turns, but no judge can hold more than three successive terms. The Court commences a session on the first Monday of every month, and the first week is generally occupied by the Grand Jury, who commonly return their bills on Saturday, and the trials proceed afterwards, and usually occupy the whole month, seldom leaving any vacation between the monthly terms.

During the past year (1849) sixteen hundred and three cases have been entered on the docket of the Municipal Court, and all but forty-three of them were finally disposed of within the year. Without enumerating the great number of persons sent for long periods of time to hard labor in the State Prison, to the House of Correction, and to the penitentiaries for juvenile offenders at South Boston and the Reform School at Westboro', or counting the number of persons discharged by the Grand Jury and by the trial juries, some notion of the extent of the business of this court may be formed from the large sums of money paid for fines and costs imposed on the guilty for lesser offences. Within the year 1849 the Sheriff has received eighteen thousand four hundred ninety-eight dollars and fifty-one cents, and the Jailer more than two thousand dollars, for such fines and costs; and the Attorney of the Commonwealth for the County of Suffolk has received and paid into the public treasury the sum of eleven thousand two hundred and seventeen dollars and eighty-four cents, for the penalties of the recognizances of those persons who had been arrested for crimes and afterwards avoided and fled from justice, whose cases were pending in this court alone, making a total of about thirty-three thousand dollars in money in one year. The Grand Jury serves in this court for six months, and the trial juries each for three months, and the court sits far more days in the year, and more hours in the day, than any other court but the Police Court, which has three judges and three clerks, who relieve each other. Among the advantages of the court are the frequent clearing of the jail, and the promptness and care with which the trials are conducted, so that the innocent are not long confined under suspicion without trial, and the guilty are soon taken from an inconvenient, corrupting, and unhealthy jail, and placed under the discipline and reformatory process of excellent penitentiaries.

A VALUABLE WORK.

THE STATESMAN'S MANUAL.—The Addresses and Messages of the Presidents of the United States, Inaugural, Annual, and Special, from 1789 to 1849; with a MEMOIR of each of the Presidents, and a History of their Administrations. Also, the Constitution of the United States, and a selection of important documents and statistical information. Compiled from Official Sources, by EDWIN WILLIAMS. Embellished with Portraits of the Presidents, engraved on steel, by Vistus Balch. In four large octavo volumes. Published by Edward Walker, No. 114 Fulton street, New York, and for sale at the Store of Fetridge & Co., No. 20 State street, Boston.

We notice the above work from a sense of duty to the public. Mr. Williams is entitled to the thanks of the community for his discriminating judgment in preparing such a work for publication. It is a work which every citizen should purchase, read, and study. Particularly should those citizens possess it who are called upon to serve as legislators.

Mr. Walker, the publisher, has done himself great credit in giving this book to the public in a style of execution worthy of its great importance. It is elegantly printed and bound, and is sold at a low price. It has, indeed, all the requisites of a useful and elegant work, suited to the wants and condition of the people.

CALIFORNIA.*

In an article published in the Alta California, on the 2d of July last, we stated the probable population of the country at that time at thirty thousand souls. As the recent election has failed to bring out more than one-quarter of the legal voters in the country, and as the hopes which that contest held out of approximating to the number of inhabitants have failed, we have thought it proper and necessary to give the following statistics. They are made up, in some instances, from actual records; in others, from the best estimates we have been able to procure.

The population of California, on the 1st day of January, 1849, may be set down as follows, viz.:—

Californians, say	13,000
Americans, "	6,000
Foreigners, "	5,000
Total	24,000

From that time down to the 11th day of April, 1849, there were a great many arrivals by sea, and a few by land. If we set down the arrivals by sea in round numbers at 5,000, (of which one-half were Americans,) and the arrivals by land (principally from Sonora and Lower California,) at 1,000, we shall then have the following result, viz.:

Californians,	13,000
Americans,	9,000
Foreigners,	9,000
Total	31,000

From the 12th of April down to the present time, (November 28th, 1849,) we are enabled to give, through the politeness of Edward A. King, Harbor Master, reliable statistics of the arrivals by sea. They are as follows:—

Months.	Americans.	Foreigners.	Males.	Females.	Total.
May, April and June	3,944	1,942	5,677	209	5,886
July	3,000	614	3,555	49	3,614
August	3,384	509	3,806	87	3,893
Sept.	4,271	1,531	5,680	122	5,802
Oct.	2,655	1,414	3,950	119	4,069
Nov.	1,746	490	2,165	81	2,236
Total	19,000	6,500	24,833	667	25,500

In an article which we published in July last, we stated the then probable population at 30,000. Subsequent experience and travel through the country, has convinced us that we were then in error.

Admitting then, that on the 11th day of April last there were 31,000 inhabitants in the country, as above stated; if we add thereto the 25,500 arrived by sea, as shown by the table above, we have a total of 56,500. To this must be added some 6,000 Mexicans who came into the country by land, and of which probably 2,000 still remain. Further than this, there have run away from the several vessels now in this port, at least 3,000 seamen: there have arrived at other ports in California, 500 souls; and there have come into the country by the Santa Fe and southern route, at least 2,000. These figures give the following result, as the present population of the country, derived from all sources except the emigration over the Rocky Mountains:—

* From the Alta California, Dec. 1.

Californians	13,000
Americans	32,500
Foreigners	18,500
Total	64,000

The number of the emigration by the way of the "Plains" is variously estimated from 30,000 to 40,000. Our own impression is that it will not be found to vary much from 30,000. Adding that number to the figures above, and we have a total of 94,000 souls, as follows:

Americans	62,000
Californians	13,000
Foreigners	18,500
Total	94,000

There cannot be a doubt that the figures given above are below the mark; and we have no hesitation in saying, and we think the figures will bear us out in the assertion, that the population of California now exceeds one hundred thousand.

CUSHING'S MANUAL OF PARLIAMENTARY PRACTICE. By Luther S. Cushing.

[From Hon. S. H. Walley, Speaker of the Massachusetts House of Representatives.]

"This Manual is much needed. There is no work in this country which is adapted near as well, in my judgment to assist those who are called upon to preside in public assemblies acceptably and profitably to the community."

TEMPERANCE TALES. A new edition complete in 2 vols. 12mo. By Lucius M. Sargent. Elegantly illustrated.

NEW POEMS. By Hannah F. Gould. Containing one hundred and thirty-five Poems now first published. 1 vol. 16mo.

THE AMERICAN VOCALIST. By D. H. Mansfield. The American Vocalist is one of the most popular Music books ever published. It contains in a single volume more than 500 tunes adapted to every occasion of public and social worship. The Poetry alone would fill a large volume; a whole hymn being set to a tune instead of a single verse. The publishers have received, and are receiving daily, the highest commendations of this book.

[From The Zion's Herald, January 16, 1850.]

"We have heretofore noticed it with emphatic approval; it is one of the best combinations of old and new music we have seen The good old tunes appear flourishingly. Its great characteristic is, that while it is sufficiently scientific, it is full of the soul of popular music."

[From Rev. J. C. Aspenwall, Springfield, Vt.]

"In my opinion, The American Vocalist, by Mansfield, is decidedly the best tune book ever used in New England since my remembrance. The old people receive the tunes as they would an old acquaintance and friend, after an absence of thirty years; and the attention of the young is arrested by their GRANDEUR and novelty."

HAS ADDED TO HIS EXTENSIVE ESTABLISHMENT, A

MINIATURE STEAM ENGINE,

For doing the Mechanical Parts, and it is of great advantage in the Preparation of large Plates for Family Groups, which before has been an obstacle in the way of making them perfect.

He has just secured LETTERS PATENT for a process of making Daguerreotypes in the style of CRAYON DRAWINGS, thereby entirely removing the set and stiff look to which the usual Daguerreotype is liable.

Children of any age can have a correct likeness taken between the hours of 11, A.M. and 2, P.M., when the sky is clear. Miniatures of Adults taken as well in stormy as pleasant weather.

THE AMERICAN SENTINEL.

BEN: PERLEY POORE

Respectfully solicits public patronage for a new weekly journal, (based upon the "Pic Nic,") which is enriched with original articles from contributors of high merit, at home and abroad. It is printed with clear new type, in thirty-six columns, on substantial white paper, and embellished with wood engravings by the first artists.

ITS DISTINGUISHING FEATURES ARE:

I. Perfect Independence; being influenced by no party organization, and the editor being confident that whoever speaks the truth out of a sound heart, will find an echo in public opinion.

II. Liberality of Sentiment; combined with manliness of expression, on all occasions.

III. The regular employment of able Contributors; both at home and abroad, each one of whom has a separate department under his charge. In point of auxiliary literary talent, the Sentinel is equal, at least, to any newspaper or periodical in the United States.

IV. Freedom from Deceit; by rejecting all quack-medicine and other advertisements calculated to mislead the public. No book is reviewed until it has been read; no music recommended until it has been heard; no invention eulogized until it has been examined; and no exhibition praised until it has been seen; nor can favor ever be purchased at a stated price per line.

V. Purity of Style and Expression. While illustrating the present and the past, earnest endeavors will be made to edify and amuse, but not to pander to vicious tastes by searching into the world's foulest corner for plague blotches, in order to profit by the loathsomeness of the exhibition.

In general, the AMERICAN SENTINEL is a high-toned Register of passing events, ever ready to defend the honor and interests of the United States, and always on the qui vive for novelty, wit, and humor. The proprietor asks public support, pledging himself to give his paper that independent, high-toned and popular character which the above outline promises.

☞ The price of the AMERICAN SENTINEL is two dollars per annum, payable in advance; three copies in one envelope, five dollars. A liberal allowance is made to agents.

☞ The large city circulation of the AMERICAN SENTINEL, added to its country edition, which goes all over the Union, makes it a desirable medium for advertisements, as may be seen by inspecting the lists of its subscribers.

'GET THE BEST.'

"All young persons should have a standard DICTIONARY, at their elbows. And while you are about it, get the best; that Dictionary is NOAH WEBSTER'S,

The great work, unabridged. If you are too poor, save the amount from off your back, to put it into your head."—Phrenolog. Journal.

"Dr. Webster's great work is the best Dictionary of the English language."—London Morning Chronicle.

The work has been placed in the public schools of New York, Utica, St. Louis, &c, as a book of reference, and the views expressed in the following extract are very extensively held, and acted upon.

Extract from a Lecture addressed to a Teacher's Institute, by WILLIAM RUSSELL, Principal of the Merrimack (N. H.) School for Teachers, and formerly Editor of the American Journal of Education.

"The volume is, in fact, the teacher's encyclopedia, as well as lexicon, for daily reference. Could a copy of it be provided, as the permanent property of every district school, the effect, as regards the improvement of instruction, would be deeply and extensively felt, in the increased skill of the teacher, and the higher attainments of his pupils, in the most important part of education,—the acquisition of an adequate knowledge and proper use of our own language."

"Once possessed of a work so able, copious and scientifically constructed as one discovers a hundred benefits previously unthought of. Old uses, and new uses, and disuses and abuses,—old terms, and new terms, and the history of the rise and progress of terms,—together with apt citations, pointed and sparkling,—with other benefits I need not attempt to enumerate,—combine to make him feel the work a desideratum—to lay it as a corner stone in his library. Or rather,—since corner stones are not often disturbed,—as a janitor—a librarian,—ever at his post, ready to converse on whatever topic is at hand."—Rev. Charles Beecher.

From one of the leading Booksellers in England.—"WEBSTER'S QUARTO DICTIONARY IS THE ONLY ONE TO SUCCEED HERE."—London, May, 1849.

Some Towns, we are glad to learn, have voted to purchase copies of this valuable work, for their District Schools.—Editor State Record.

CLOTHING.

JOHN SIMMONS & CO.

OVER QUINCY MARKET.

"One of the most respectable and extensive Clothing Warehouses in Boston, is that of John Simmons & Co., over Quincy Market, both as Wholesale and Retail Dealers in Ready-Made Clothing and Piece Goods. Mr. John Simmons has established his reputation upon a most firm and favorable basis.

"While they guarantee to their patrons well-made clothing at most reasonable rates, the proprietors make no undue clamor in relation to their establishment. It speaks for itself. Any one will be at once convinced of the great extent of their business operations, by entering their capacious and well-arranged rooms over Quincy Market, and surveying the vast amount of stock on hand. Garments of every texture and fashion may there be seen in vast quantities, while the busy scene before the spectator, the number of active salesmen, cutters, and customers, afford tangible evidence of the popularity of the place.

"This is one of the oldest firms in the clothing trade now doing business in Boston. They employ none but the most skilful cutters, and the organization of their establishment, the fairness of their terms, and the fidelity with which their garments are made up, speak volumes in their favor to the discerning. We advise purchasers to visit this place."—From the Business Guide.

JOSEPH L. ROSS,

PRACTICAL MANUFACTURER OF

DESKS AND CHAIRS

FOR SCHOOLS.

Having furnished the city with great numbers of this article and now being engaged in executing further contracts for the City Schools, and for those in its vicinity, begs leave to ask your attention to the following graduation of sizes, adapted to pupils 4 years of age and upwards:

First Size,	height	16	inches,	for	Pupils	from fourteen to seventeen years of age.
Second Size,	"	15	"	"	"	twelve to fourteen years of age
Third Size,	"	14	"	"	"	ten to twelve years of age.
Fourth Size,	"	13	"	"	"	eight to ten years of age.
Fifth Size,	"	12	"	"	"	six to eight years of age.
Sixth Size,	"	10	"	"	"	five to six years of age.
Seventh Size,	"	9	"	"	"	four to five years of age.

Orders predicated upon this arrangement of sizes, will be sure to meet the wants, and to supply the deficiencies long complained of in School Furniture.

In the manufacture of DESKS and CHAIRS, Mr. R. has introduced all the improvements that time, practical observation of teachers and other scientific gentlemen, interested in the matter, have suggested; consequently he has great confidence in appealing to School Committees, and all others that are or may be in want of this kind of Furniture, for their patronage, assuring them that their orders shall be faithfully and promptly executed; moreover, he may observe, that by the aid of ingenious steam-power machinery, skilful workmen, and choice seasoned stock, he is enabled to execute the work more expeditiously, cheaper, and better than can be procured elsewhere.

The legs of the Desk and Seat are Iron, of a classical design, firmly screwed on to the wood, and both articles then are to be permanently screwed to the floor. By a reference to the Cut, their simplicity, strength, and adaptation to the purposes intended, is so obvious, that no further explanation seems requisite; they have given entire satisfaction wherever they have been used.

All communications in relation to CHAIRS, DESKS, TABLES, BOOK CASES, or other Furniture for School Rooms, please to direct to JOSEPH L. ROSS, at his manufactory, CORNER OF IVERS AND HAWKINS STREETS, BOSTON; at which place may be seen the article, above named, in progress to completion.

N. B.—Particular attention will be given to the arrangement of the School Desks with seats, and for permanently fixing the same, when desired.
